

Make Income Returns Public, Blaine Urges

Governor's Tax Message States
Reason for Calling Legislature Together

WILL INTRODUCE FOUR BILLS

Publicity is Essential to Equalizing Tax Burden, Chief Executive Says

By Herbert B. Little
Madison, Wis.,—Governor John J.
Blaine of Wisconsin Wednesday asked the Wisconsin legislature to throw open to the public

all records of the state income tax.
In his message
to the special session of the legislature called together last week to meet
beginning at 10 a.
m. today, the chief executive explained
the reason for opening the records
to the public was his constitutional prerogative in announcing the session.

Speaking to 125 of the state's 133
representatives seated in the assembly chamber of the capitol, the governor placed before the solons the work he wants them to perform.

NEED PUBLICITY

"Publicity is the very first essential to an equitable distribution of tax burdens," the governor said in asking the passage of the four tax bills drawn up under his supervision,
which will be introduced this afternoon.

Copies of each bill were placed on each legislator's desk, together with printed copies of the governor's message in full at the beginning of the morning session. The bill will be

Madison—In fourteen months
Wisconsin received returns of $990,370.73 from an investment of $65,000, and still has about $25,000 left to continue its lucrative business until next January.

This amount was received from previously unreported income taxes assessed by field
and office audits of the tax commission. Gov. Blaine declared in his message to the special session for legislature Wednesday.

officially introduced in both houses by administration leaders.
The bills will provide:

1. That the so-called "secrecy clause" of the state income tax statute (Section 72.10) be repealed. Assembly bill will be introduced by John Dehl, Barron county. Senate bill will be introduced by Herman Severson, Shawano.

EXTEND TIME LIMIT

2. That the "statute of limitations" of three years from the date of tax investigation, be changed so that income tax returns may be investigated over a period six years previous to the investigation.

3. That the persons or corporations found guilty of incorrect or fraudulent returns may be investigated as far back as the income tax law was in operation (1915) and that penalties of double the amount "held out" on the state may be assessed against the persons or corporations making illegal returns for each year
in which it is found they made wrong returns.

4. That the $40,000 transferred from the soldiers' educational bonus
fund last year to the tax commission
to allow that body to carry on audits of tax returns, be repaid to the fund out of the general fund of the state treasury.

TOO MUCH ESPIONAGE

"You, the chosen representatives of the people, cannot longer blink at the fact that millions of dollars of taxes have been fraudulently withheld and I want to bring to the notice of the office I took if I deferred
another year the demand for protection to the honest tax-payer," Governor
Blaine told the legislators.

"An extravagant and expensive espionage through auditors and inspectors does not meet the issue; an attempt to preserve the secrecy clause, or to hedge about income tax returns to prevent full publicity, will not meet the public demand; it will result only in permitting the dishonest to continue to escape their obligations to the government," the governor said.

CARRIES FIGHT TO STAY
IN U. S. INTO COURTS

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Decision of the deportation of August Probst, former butler of the Rook Country club at Ligonier, Pa., who claims he is being "railroaded" out of the country because of a romance with a Pittsburg society girl, is expected within a few days.

Federal Judge Knox Wednesday
was considering a decision placed before him by Probst's attorneys and by immigration authorities who declare that Probst is insane.

Virginia C. McKay, daughter of a wealthy Pittsburgher, is the young woman with whom Probst, according to his lawyers' statement in court,
"exchanged a truth."

Immigration authorities said
Probst was insane and that the removal was an hallucination.

ONE MAN DROWNS WHEN CAR JUMPS INTO LAKE

Chicago—One man was believed drowned here Wednesday when a speeding automobile plunged into Lake Michigan at the foot of Buena street. Arthur Holmes, the second occupant of the car, swam to safety after becoming disengaged from the wreckage.
Holmes refused to divulge the other man's name. He said the other was driving. He admitted taking the car from the Shenandoah
garage for "a little airing."

DODGE'S SPEED CASE
IN HANDS OF JURORS

Kalamazoo, Mich.—The case of John Duval Dodge, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, was placed in the hands of the jury Wednesday.
A verdict of guilty would carry a sentence of ninety days and a fine of $100.
In case the Detroit millionaire is acquitted he will be arraigned immediately on a charge of possessing,
transporting and furnishing liquor.

TAX MESSAGE

Madison—Following is Governor J.
Blaine's message, in part, read at the opening of the special session of the legislature here Wednesday:
"We live in a time of great agitation, of a war of clashing thoughts and interests.
"There is a feeling that some men are handicapped; that the race is solid; that the old and much vaunted equality of opportunity and of right has been submerged. More bitter and threatening things are being said and written against accumulated property and corporate power than ever before. It is said that, more and more, small men, small stores, and small factories are being thrown upon the shore as financial drift; that the pursuit of cheapness has reached a stage
where only enormous combinations of capital, doing an enormous business,
are sure of returns.
"The special purpose of my address
today is to press home the thought upon this prosperous, well-to-do people of our communities and especially of our great cities, that one of the conditions of the security of wealth
is a proportionate and full contribution to the expenses of the State and local governments. It is not only wrong, but it is unsafe, to make a show in our homes and on the street
that is not made in the tax returns.
"Taxes are a debt of the highest obligation, and no capitalist can draw a sound moral distinction between the man who hides his property or moves it to a foreign land in order to escape the payment of his debt to the state, and the man who conceals his property from his private creditors.
Nor should it be more difficult to follow the defaulter in the one case than in the other. If our taxes were farmed out to an individual or a corporation, they would be collected.
There would be a vigilant and unremitting pursuit. The civil and criminal processes of the law would be invoked with effect, just as they were against fraudulent debtors under the bankrupt law.
"We have too much treated the matter of a man's tax return as a personal matter.
"We have put his transactions with the State on much the same level
with his transactions with his banker, but that is not the true relation.
Every citizen owes to the State a pecuniary interest, in the tax return of his neighbor. We are members of a great partnership, and it is the right of each to know what every other member is contributing to the partnership and what he is taking from it."

WHATS 40 SMACKS A DAY TO THE PRINCE?

Chicago—Prince Ali Ibrahim, nephew of the king of Egypt, and Blink McCloskey, his social secretary, were in Chicago Wednesday.
Blink, a pugilist, did the talking.
"Hizone, the prince wanted
to inhale Chi so I yessed him.
We's on our way to Hollywood.
The prince'll show 'em a few tricks out there.
"The prince is the berries. He's an all around athlete and gives me a tough battle once in a while.
"We pay forty smacks a day for this joint," Blink referred to a suite in the Blackstone hotel.

BONUS BILL IS SURE OF PASSAGE
IN LOWER HOUSE

Democrats Are Making Last Stand in Opposition to Paying Veterans

Washington—Democratic congressmen were lining up Wednesday for a futile fight on the gag plan by means of which the soldiers' bonus will be passed in the house Thursday.
The bonus rules committee Wednesday reported out a special rule which,
when adopted Thursday, will cause suspension of the rules of the house and allow four hours debate on the bonus bill.

Conservative estimates are that there will not be more than 75 votes against the bill.

The word is being passed around almost certainly will not veto the present bill. In fact, Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee,
is quoted as saying substantially,
"the president told us that the present bill meets some of his objections."

As the situation now stands, the house members will be able to go forth in the fall campaigns and say to the voters "we have passed the bonus for the soldiers, we are entitled to your votes. Of the measure is not perfected, it is only a question of time when it is finished in the upper body."

CHARGE MISREPRESENTATION House American Legion officials protested to President Harding Wednesday that disabled soldiers who recently urged delay of the bonus
under legislation for relief of wounded
veterans is enacted, misrepresented
the real attitude of disabled service men.

Edison Too
Old To Learn
New Tricks

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—Thomas A. Edison turned to the University of Wisconsin
commerce school to learn economics,
and the university turned him down.
Prof. W. A. Scott, head of the school of commerce, in a series of letters, told the electrician he lacked elementary principals, and that it was doubtful "whether at your age and present state of mind it would be worth while to teach you those elements."

This was learned Wednesday following the issuance of a questionnaire
by 24 university professors Tuesday
for the purpose of "showing up" Edison's questions which so confused college graduates last year.

Protest by Edison to the university
board of regents that Scott's treatment of him had been "discourteous"
was said to have brought the affair
to light.

Wirth Ministry Threatened—
Partial Moratorium Granted
Germany—America Sets Forth Claims for Compensation.

By United Press Leased Wire
Berlin—The note of the allied reparations commission detailing payments which will be required of Germany this year was received here Wednesday. It created consternation in government and financial circles.
A fresh crisis for the Wirth government is predicted.
The payments required by the allies
will necessitate an additional issue of 40,000,000,000 paper marks and additional taxation, it was said.

GRANT MORATORIUM

Paris.—The Temps Wednesday afternoon announced authoritatively that a partial moratorium has been granted Germany by the allied reparations commission. A proviso in the allied note preserves the reichbank's autonomy, according to the Temps,
but informs the German government
it must contract internal and external loans to meet payments required for 1922.

If Germany is unsuccessful in negotiating the required loans, German capital will be mortgaged, according to the allied agreement.

Germany must pay 750,000,000 gold
marks cash this year and 1,450,000, 000 marks in kind. If latter payments are not forthcoming, the balance is to be collected in cash.

U. S. SETS UP CLAIM

Washington.—Identical notes from the American government are being delivered to the allied powers Wednesday outlining this country's claim for the payment of $241,000,000 to cover the cost of the United States army of occupation in Germany.

Briefly, the attitude of the United States is set forth in the note, as:
The claim for repayment of costs of the maintenance of the American forces in Germany is a solemn obligation.

Recognition and granting of the claim is doubly binding on the allied cause since it was at the urgent solicitation of the allies that the American troops were kept in Germany.

There was a solemn agreement between the allies and associated powers that the payment of the costs of the armies of occupation should constitute a first lien on the assets of Germany.

This understanding always contemplated payment of the costs of the American forces. Since Germany has not objected to this there seems no basis for objection from the allies.

Will Seek Action
Against Dry Law

Madison.—A resolution to ask congress to amend the Volstead act to allow the sale of light wine and beer
will be introduced into the legislature of the Wisconsin legislature this afternoon, it was learned Wednesday.

Assemblyman Martin Higgins, Milwaukee, will introduce the resolution.
Gov. Blaine has repeatedly said that nothing except tax measures relating to the income tax statute will be considered.

MIRACLE CREEK SLAYER
HELD SANE BY ALIENIST

By United Press Leased Wire
Beloit.—Plans of a defense for the murder of Edwin Thielman, Miracle Creek murder victim, by Fred Mc-Bride, received a setback Wednesday with the announcement by district Attorney Easton Johnson of Walworth county, that an expert alienist has announced McBride perfectly sane.
The alienist, Dr. William Lorenz, Mc-Bride, examined McBride in his cell in the Elkhorn jail and is now preparing a complete report.

NOT A FANATIC

These are not the words of a radical or a fanatic; they are the words of a brave soldier and an illustrious President of the United States; they are the words of former President Benjamin Harrison, who, in a letter addressed to him before the Union League Club on the 22 day of February, 1898, at Chicago, President
Harrison's words, standing alone, refute every argument raised against the proposals set forth in the call for this special session.

These utterances, a quarter of a century ago, and they were prophetic.
"You will hear the plea that the repeal of the secrecy clause in the income tax law will 'tear away all semblance of privacy,'" President Harrison said that the plea of business privacy had been driven by every argument that taxation is a private matter. Taxation is a public matter, and there should be no privacy, no secrecy, regarding any question that is public.

No honest tax return need fear publicity, for the return made by the man or corporation that evades the law that needs the veil of secrecy drawn to shut out from public view the fraud and the cheat.

I did not put the case too strongly in my message to the legislature year ago, he said, for the "paralyzing" clause "paralyzes" government, invites perjury and renders sovereignty helpless."

Because of the secrecy clause, I can give no information regarding the frauds that have been practiced, or the

HITS SOCIALISTS

Niven won a three-cornered fight in the primary election for the office of city clerk over E. W. Reynolds, Socialist, his nearest opponent, of 2,621 votes here Tuesday.

Niven carried 13 of the 25 wards,
Reynolds, 11, and Thomas A. Manning, third candidate, one. The running show in the primary was made by the man or corporation that evades the

WETS AND DRIES LINING UP FOR FINISH FIGHT

Prohibition Forces Ready to Carry Battle Into Every Congressional District

SOLDIERS TO HAVE A VOTE

Liquor Question to be Clear Cut Issue in Election Next Fall

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co.)
Washington.—The greatest of battles between the wet and dry forces in America is impending. Twenty or more national organizations will be in the fight for a modification of the Volstead law and at least twenty associations comprising the allied temperance forces of America will resist that effort.

News of the intensity of the fight to be waged for control of the next congress comes from both camps. They admit the contest has begun and will grow in violence as the primary campaigns start in the spring and summer months.

The issue is not partisan. The prohibition forces intend to support Republicans or Democrats as the case may be, who have stood by them in congress, and they similarly will do all in their power to prevent the re-nomination or reelection of Democrats and Republicans who have leaned to the wet side.

"The temperance forces," said Samuel W. Small, associate secretary of the National Reform association, today, "have a pledged financial income of over two million dollars annually
from voluntary contributors, averaging $3 per person.

"We have carefully analyzed in the light of past election returns the condition of prohibition sentiment in every one of the 435 congressional districts. We know all the senators and representatives who can be trusted to maintain, strengthen and vote to increase enforcement legislation. We support them without regard to party creed and they react everyone who has been faithful and un-dodging."

The temperance forces are much more efficiently organized than their opponents. Thirty-five "protestant evangelical" denominations with a membership of 24,000,000 two-thirds of which are voters, and two Roman Catholic churches with a membership of 1,000,000 voters are claimed by Mr.
Small as the backbone of the temperance movement. He estimates that there are 120,000 enrolled pupils from which pastors actively and continuously are supporting the prohibition movement. There are fraternal organizations and the famous Anti-Saloon League and Women's Christian Temperance union with memberships contributing monthly to promote prohibition work.

WETS ARE HOPEFUL
The wets have taken a tack
which they hope will swing sentiment toward them. They do not urge the return of the saloon—they insist it will not come back. They do not base their campaign on the question of repealing the eighteenth amendment. But they are concentrating on the Volstead law, and they are exhibiting certain of its provisions as too extreme and inconsistent with the intent of the eighteenth amendment.
The objective is the return of light wines and beer though the anti-prohibition forces are by no means united
on that point.

This election for congress is the first in which a prohibition issue can be fought out without being embedded by national presidential questions and party platforms. It's the first time since the eighteenth amendment was adopted that the returned soldier will be said to be against prohibition will have a chance to register a protest. The preparations being made by the dries
are the best evidence of the revival
or survival of the prohibition issue.

New York.—Admission that she went repeatedly to "Tex" Rickard's office and permitted intimacies, because she wanted the money, was made un-against the sporting promoter charged with mistreating four little girls.

Ghost Prober
Has A Ghost
All His Own

New York.—Dr. Walter Franklin
Prince recently went to investigate the ghosts.

Wednesday it was revealed that the ghosts were investigating Dr. Prince.
Reports from Belfast say the blame
for the border skirmishes upon Sinn
Feiners but it is pointed out here
that Ulster extremists are equally
anxious to prevent establishment of the southern government.

Most of the bridges along the Tyrone border have now been burnt
down and constant picketing on both sides of the Foyle and Black-
water rivers prevented farmers and travelers from passing in or out of Ulster except with permission of
local commanders.

Rife fire was exchanged through-
out the night between scouting parties on opposite sides of the Blackwater. Sinn Fein raids into the Ulster territory were frequent.

MAY USE TROOPS
London.—"It may be necessary to throw a cordon of British troops about
the troubled area along the Ulster
border," Winston Churchill, minister
for the colonies, announced in the house of Commons Wednesday afternoon.

The situation in Ireland, Churchill
declared, was growing steadily worse.

gether in Mayoralty Primary
—Fiedler Eliminated From Aldermanic Race in Sixth Ward.

Less than one-quarter of Appleton's voting strength was represented at the polls in the primary election on Tuesday. Only 2,581 votes out of a possible total of nearly 15,000 were cast in the six wards.

D. O. Kinsman ran 143 votes ahead of Henry Reuter in the "test" vote which the primary was in certain sense, Kinsman led in the First,

ceived 152.

Trettin, 34 and Kirchenloren, 50.

R. E. McGilgan, present alderman, and Jerry Callahan will oppose each other in the final election in the

with only a very few votes cast, were quite close together when the ballots were counted. Laabs received 178
and Waites getting 159.

James A. Wood, without opposition in the First ward, polled 479 votes.
Theodore Berg ran far ahead of Alfred Bosser in the city attorney primary. Berg receiving 1,335 votes while Bosser received 939. Both men

CHARGE ATTEMPT TO KEEP UP IRISH WAR

Dublin—Guerrilla warfare along the Ulster border was Wednesday considered a deliberate attempt by extremists to provoke civil war and upset plans for the Irish free state.

Reports from Belfast say the blame
for the border skirmishes upon Sinn
Feiners but it is pointed out here
that Ulster extremists are equally
anxious to prevent establishment of
the southern government.

Most of the bridges along the Tyrone border have now been burnt
down and constant picketing on
both sides of the Foyle and Black-
water rivers prevented farmers and
travelers from passing in or out of Ulster except with permission of
local commanders.

Rife fire was exchanged through-
out the night between scouting parties on opposite sides of the Black-
water. Sinn Fein raids into the Ulster territory were frequent.

MAY USE TROOPS
London.—"It may be necessary to
throw a cordon of British troops about
the troubled area along the Ulster
border," Winston Churchill, minister
for the colonies, announced in the house of Commons Wednesday afternoon.

The situation in Ireland, Churchill
declared, was growing steadily worse.

COMMITTING SUICIDE
TOO PAINFUL A JOB

Chicago—Slava Stankewitz, baritone with the Russian Grand Opera company attempted to stab himself in the heart with a pair of manure scissors as the curtain arose "Ode."

He was yelled from behind the scenes. The jab in the breast proved too painful for him and he fainted. He was taken to a hospital and will be released Wednesday. The company was organized by former N Premier Kerensky.

Washington.—A public appeal by President Harding to coal operators and miners to settle their differences and avoid a nationwide conference of work April 1 may be made within a week.

It was learned authoritatively
Wednesday that Harding is inclined toward such a move as a final effort to draw the bituminous operators into a national peace conference and enhance the chances of settlement in all districts.

Harding has consulted Attorney General Clegg, it was learned, to find out what steps he might take toward backing up the move he made in inviting the bituminous operators to conference.

Daughterly told him, according to reliable information, that he knew of no legal steps that might be taken by any agent of the government toward settlement before the fuel supply of the nation is imperilled by the walkout.

The possibilities of a public appeal,
then arose. Some officials are understood to have opposed it on the ground that it was useless since the situation has developed to such a

17 POLES ON MACKVILLE PHONE LINE BREAK DOWN

Seventeen poles of the Twelve Corner-Mackville Telephone company line were broken off by the sleet storm Sunday, causing service over the entire rural circuit owned by the company. The poles fell into the fields and did not block the highway. There were only 10 poles down during the previous sleet storm, which was considered much more violent than the last one.

SUNDAY NEW DATE FOR SOCIAL VISITATION

Next Sunday has been set as the new date for the first member social visitation of the Every Congregational church. The event was planned for last Sunday but was postponed one week on account of the sleet storm.

The organization which was to make the original canvass will carry out its plans Sunday afternoon, with captains and teams or workers calling at every home in the parish to stimulate church interest, and with no solicitation of funds being made.

"One-hundred per cent Sunday," which would have been held March 26 as a follow-up to the visitation, also has been set ahead one week to April 2, when every member of the church will be expected to attend one service. A rural visitation will be made during May, when the roads are in better condition.

OLD STYLE MEAT CUTTERS ARE GONE

Electricity Takes Places of Man-Killing Choppers of Decade Ago

What has become of the old fashioned meat block and the old fashioned rocker meat chopper that usually adorned it? The question was put to one of the pioneer meat market owners Monday and his countenance lighted up with a peculiar smile that was more significant than words.

He did not say what had become of them, but did say they served their purpose well in their day. The blocks were usually cut from the trunk of sycamore, oak or maple tree and lasted all the way from ten to twenty years. A sycamore block always lasted twice as long as an oak or maple block.

The rocker meat choppers with handle bars on each end and equipped with a series of knives were always mankillers to operate because of their weight. They disappeared only a few years ago without being missed by the average meat market patron.

The meat is now cut with electric motor driven machinery in quarters the time it formerly took to do the work and the old fashioned meat block has been replaced by a manufactured block made in Appleton and shipped all over the country.

HASKIN DESCRIBES JERUSALEM'S FALL

Post-Crescent Information Bureau Answers Variety of Questions

Capture of Jerusalem by Titus about 66 A. D., was accomplished after one of the most frightful sieges in the history of the world, Frederic J. Haskin, head of the Post-Crescent Information bureau at Washington, D. C., told a reader of this newspaper in response to an inquiry regarding the fall of the Jewish city. Mr. Haskin described an uprising by the Jews shortly after the death of Christ and the destruction of the city which resulted from the cruel repression of the Jewish revolt.

Several other interesting questions were answered last week for Post-Crescent readers. Any reader of this paper can avail himself of this splendid service by addressing the Appleton Post-Crescent Information bureau Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Do not send your inquiries to the Appleton office. Mr. Haskin can give you information on almost any subject except those relating to health and financial matters.

DYSPEPSIA IS OVERCOME IN A SHORT TIME

Milwaukee Woman Gains Ten Pounds and Eats Anything on the Table Now—Tanlac Again Proves Merit.

"I have a splendid appetite since taking Tanlac and everything seems to agree with me perfectly, for I have gained ten pounds in weight in a very short time," said Mrs. Katie Lambrecht, 1712 Vine St., Milwaukee, Wis. "For some years previous to taking Tanlac I was in a weak, sluggish, run down condition. I had no appetite and although I ate sparingly at all times I suffered no little from indigestion. The circulation of my blood seemed to be very poor, too, as I felt cold and chilly most of the time, and I was growing weaker and thinner every day."

"I am just delighted with what Tanlac has done for me and feel stronger and am in better health than in years. My advice to everybody who feels in need of something to build them up is to take Tanlac. I am convinced that there is no other medicine like it."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by Voigt Drug Co. and by leading druggists everywhere.

YOU MAKE YOUR OWN COMPANION, MARSHALL SAYS

Appleton Businessman Gives Helpful Hints to High School Students

"Business men put into practice the theory of business which you learn in school," Louis J. Marshall of the Marshall Paper Co. told students in the office training class of Appleton high school in an address Tuesday afternoon. No two offices are run exactly alike, he continued and yet in every office one will have to climb the same steps to reach the top.

One of the biggest sins which the stenographer applying for a position commits is that of bluffing, Mr. Marshall said. If a person has applied himself to the things learned it will not be necessary to bluff, in other words, success depends upon the way one has applied oneself in the school of theories.

One of the qualities which is absolutely necessary to success is neat personal appearance, not the very height of style but clean and neat. Accuracy, above all things, is important in spelling and punctuation. Then too the worker should be self-reliable, especially as he takes upon himself the more responsible positions of business, and must use some initiative and know the value of secrecy.

The aim which every worker should have is to do less work and yet achieve the same results.

"Every person must live with himself all his life," said Mr. Marshall in closing, "and it is up to you to make yourself the kind of person with whom you wish to live."

FURS AND MYSTERY

By A. Carstensen
APPLETON FURRIER

A lady recently looked at a fur coat in the store of a certain furrier and considered his price for the garment was too high. A few days later she visited another store, finding a coat of the same fur and looking identically like the coat shown her by the other furrier.

She had almost decided to take the coat at the lower price, but, out of curiosity, she decided to ascertain if possible why there was such a vast difference in price on these two coats appearing to her to be identical.

Possibly you have met with the same experience, so we'll tell you what she found: the first coat was made from whole skins, while the second and cheaper coat was but a collection of small pieces or odds and ends of the same kind of fur, pieced together, the density of the fur hiding the cheaper skins used in the piecing.

Needless to say, she bought the higher priced coat, which was far the cheaper in the end.

This is by no means an unusual occurrence, for a clever furrier, willing to deceive his patrons for the sake of long profits, by cutting the skins into strips and piecing them together with sheep skin or some other cheaper hide, can turn out a garment as good looking as the garment made from whole skins.

The lining and padding of such pieces aid the dishonest furrier in his deception, but if you will grasp the garment firmly and rub it slowly between the hands, the many seams can readily be felt.

This only proves that furs, like diamonds, should be bought from a dealer whose reputation for reliability makes trickery impossible.

Beware of the Wolf in Sheep's Clothing.

Candies With Fondant Bases Are Easy To Make

Especially easy to make are the candies which have fondant as their basis, and the kiddies enjoy them just ever so much. Why not try them on the older folks too, they will surely be appreciated.

MAPLE FONDANT
2 cups sugar
2 cups maple sirup
2 cups hot water
1 level teaspoon cream of tartar

Cook and treat same as white fondant. If closely covered with a damp cloth this fondant can be set aside for 24 hours or more and worked over again and again until creamy. Work in the desired flavoring or coloring, a little at a time when kneading it.—Mrs. H. H. Jack, Hortonville.

CHOCOLATE CREAMS
Flavor white fondant, rolling into balls and dipping in bitter chocolate, which has been melted. As soon as dipped a nut kernel or piece of candied fruit may be placed on top.—Mrs. H. H. Jack, Hortonville.

BON BONNS
Bon Bons are made by dipping the white drops into maple fondant or maple drops in white fondant. The fondant can be melted, same as chocolate by putting it into pan and setting in hot water.—Mrs. H. H. Jack, Hortonville.

COCONUT OR NUT CREAMS
Coconut or nut creams are made by working coconut or chopped nuts into flavored white fondant and dipping drops into chocolate or maple fondant. Maple fondant does not require any flavoring.

Where Does Your Heat Go?
In these spring days, as you figure your winter's coal bill, do you ask yourself, "Where did all the heat go?" More than likely you do. And more than likely you feel, as you felt on many a cold day, that much of the heat went somewhere outside of the rooms you were trying to warm. And so it did. It was lost, scattered, wasted.

Heat must be controlled, or radiated, just as air and water are controlled. Radiation is a science. And this science has proved that the surest, cheapest, safest heat is that supplied by boiler and radiators.

A boiler generates steam, vapor or hot water; pipes carry the steam, vapor or hot water from boiler to radiator, which are scientifically placed, and which radiate the heat over a given space. This provides an even, moist heat—free from gases, soot and dirt—and insures real comfort, better health and a smaller coal bill.

Why not investigate, learn the facts about lost heat and cold rooms, and during the summer prepare to enjoy next winter by consulting J. A. ENGEL, HEATING ENGINEER.

NEENAH PROMISED CHEESE WAREHOUSE

Neenah has been definitely promised a branch warehouse of the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' Association by P. G. Swoboda, general manager of the concern, who recently visited that city and addressed the farmers' congress at S. A. Cook armory.

Dairymen in that vicinity look forward to establishment of the new warehouse, it is said, because they believe it will be of considerable advantage to them. The producers' association is now serving ten or twelve factories in and around Fond du Lac and is planning a wide extension of this service.

KELLER MEETING WITH SUCCESS AT WAUKEGAN

Since taking charge of the Waukegan schools Mr. Keller established a system of vocational education in connection with the regular high school course and the board of education, at its last meeting, decided to continue that program.

Get Your Free $1.00 PACKAGE OF GENUINE YEAST VITAMINE TABLETS from your druggist today.

If you are thin and emaciated and wish something to help you put on flesh and increase your weight, Yeast Vitamine Tablets should be used in connection with organic Nuxated Iron. Without organic iron, both food and Vitamines are absolutely useless, as your body cannot change inert, lifeless food into living cells and tissue unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood. Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs. This oxygenated organic iron united with your digested food as it is absorbed into your blood just as fire unites with coal or wood, and by so doing, it creates tremendous power and energy. Without organic iron in your blood your food merely passes thru your body without doing you any good.

Arrangements have been made with the druggists of this city to give every reader of this paper a large $1.00 package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets absolutely free with every purchase of a bottle of Nuxated Iron.

ORDER REDUCTION IN PAPER FREIGHT

Interstate Commerce Commission says Present Rates Are Unreasonable

Rates on wall paper and some other grades of wrapping and bag paper from manufacturing points in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan to destinations west and southwest and to general localities in the Mississippi valley have been held unreasonable and unduly prejudicial as between cities concerned by the Interstate commerce commission. This ruling is of considerable significance to the Fox river valley.

The commission after combining a number of complaints objecting to the paper rates held that the entire structure of freight rates on the particular types of paper mentioned in the territory concerned should be modified. After laying down the general principles which it was held should govern the manufacture of a new rate structure the commission gave railroads permission to maintain present charges until June 1, 1922, but to have in readiness on or before that time, a new schedule which the commission allows to go into effect if it is found satisfactory and approved.

MORE THAN ONE LONDON IN THIS WORLD OF OURS

To some people there may be only one London but to the postoffice there are a score or more. Which simply means that it is not sufficient merely to address a letter to London.

Postmaster Gustave Keller said Monday that the postal bulletin states 5,000 letters are mailed every week in the United States which are improperly addressed to London. That means several mail clerks must give their entire time to locating the addressees.

If a letter is sent to London, England, it should be addressed to London, England, the bulletin states. It should also give the name and address plainly and the district post-office through which that person's mail is distributed.

The United States itself has several Londons. There is a London in Alabama, Arkansas, Indiana, Kentucky, Minnesota, Ohio, Texas, West Virginia and Wisconsin. A letter mailed in this state and merely addressed London would most likely be sent to London, Wis. Similar mistakes are likely in all other names of places unless care is taken to address mail explicitly.

Many Seagulls Here

H. A. Shannon, clerk of the court, says he never saw so many seagulls on Fox river as at present. He is unable to give any reason for their unexpected appearance unless scarcity of food has driven them to inland waters. The seagulls appear to divide their time between the air and resting on the water. Wild ducks have also been numerous on the river for the last week.

ROSEBUSH URGES STUDY OF PROFIT SHARING PLANS

Appleton Man Discusses Employment Insurance at Green Bay Meeting

"There are many degrees of aristocracy, and many nice distinctions of social standing among hobos and tramps—both of whom belong to the casual labor class which is the very heart and soul of the employment problem," Judson G. Rosebush, Appleton, told about fifty employers of the Fox river valley at a dinner meeting of the Fox River Industrial Relations association at the Beaumont hotel in Green Bay Tuesday evening.

"As a general distinction, the hobo is a fellow who rides on a train gratis and works when he has a chance. The tramp is the fellow who rides on a train gratis and runs away from work. In England the solution of the unemployment problem began some years ago with the skilled laborer and only recently has anything been done for the casual common laborer. In the United States the casual laborer is the crux of the whole problem."

BIGGEST PROBLEM

"One of the most difficult problems that the paper mill executive has is the matter of dealing with these casual laborers," Magnus Alexander, of the General Electric Company has figured that it costs from $39 to $150 to educate one of these laborers in the basic principles of an occupation. I was amazed to learn that the turn over at our mill here is 10 per cent per month. That is amazing in these times when one would think that a man would keep a job if he could get it."

"Unemployment insurance rests on the belief that as society is constructed there are many reasonable employments that are necessary." "Insurance men pointed out that unemployment was really not insurance at all since it was not a voluntary action on the part of the man paying the premium and that the man who paid the premium did not receive the benefit and that in other ways there was no real analogy between the premium and insurance."

"There is no telling how far the thing may go or how or when it will stop if we once enter upon such a plan. Logically if employers must support a man for 13 weeks there is no reason why he should not support him for six months or for the entire year."

"Men in positions of power must see that there is greater severity in industry. I am frank to say that I do not know just what is to be done in this matter but one of the most hopeful things that I know about is that some companies are setting aside funds in time of prosperity to take care of their employees in time of adversity. The married men with families and the aged can be cared for in this way. I would suggest that at your meetings in the future, you make a study of profit sharing, old age insurance and the distribution of stock to employees."

An invitation to hold the next meeting in Kaukauna, extended by W. F. Ashie, was accepted. The meeting will be held in Kaukauna, on April 18.

SCORES LACK OF MORAL INFLUENCE IN HOMES

Extent to which moral and religious influences in the home are lacking nowadays was described by Prof. P. M. Ingler in an address on "Religious Training in the Home" at the assembly period of the community religious training school in Lawrence main hall Monday evening. He scored the lack of proper influences over young people and the material life which families are living.

VOTING LIGHT IN PRIMARY ELECTION

polling 1,730 votes to 601 for John Gilsdorf. Both men will be on the April 4 ticket.

Fred E. Bachman, without opposition for city treasurer, received 2,005 votes.

Because of the comparatively small vote politicians are paying little attention to the results where there were no contests, claiming that the primary gives little indication of strength. The real political campaigns now will start. It is said, "Less than one-third of the votes were cast by women, it was said, indicating that women took but little interest in the primary. Very little effort was made to get out the vote except in wards where there were contests."

Folling is the vote by wards on candidates on all ballots:

American Women Are Careless

Women are too apt to overestimate their strength and overtax it. When feeling well they take unnecessary chances, which in the long run cause much pain and trouble. Wet feet, exposure to cold, lifting heavy burdens and overwork will often develop troubles which cause no end of suffering. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing remedy in such cases. Thousands of American women will testify to this fact who have regained health and strength by its use. If you are suffering it will pay you to give it a fair trial.

THE STAGE

Insured for $50,000

The hand of Skovgaard the Danish violinist, who is to appear at the Lawrence Memorial chapel Wednesday evening, March 29, is insured for the sum of $50,000. It took Skovgaard thirty years to make this hand. Incessant training and the inborn soul of the artist fashioned it. To the ordinary eye it is not very different from other well developed hands. Yet it has the power almost automatically to express through the violin the exquisite beauty and marvelous tone pictures which the player feels and sees as he interprets the work of the Masters. As an investment it represents a mans life work. But it represents, too, the inborn gift which no money can buy. That is why it is insured for $50,000.

The violinist will be accompanied by Alice McCullough Skovgaard, a most delightful pianist and soloist. The advance ticket sale indicates much interest in the concert.

AKELEY WILL TELL OF JUNGLE LIVING

Appleton people who go to Lawrence Memorial chapel next Thursday evening to see and hear Carl Akeley, noted big game hunter, will be transported to the jungles of Africa, according to reports reaching Appleton. Akeley's motion pictures of wild life in Africa and his descriptions of hunting big game are said to be the best on the world lecture platform.

Mr. Akeley returned from Africa only a few weeks ago and has numerous new experiences to tell about. He succeeded in getting some wonderful specimens for libraries and museums in America.

FOURTEEN FILE PAPERS SEEKING OFFICIAL JOBS

No Dearth of Candidates at Kaukauna as Election Day Approaches

Kaukauna.—There will be no lack of candidates for city offices in the spring election this year, judging from the nomination papers which are being filed with Louis Wolf, city clerk. All papers must be filed by 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Fourteen candidates turned in their papers Monday and Tuesday and it is expected most of the candidates will have turned in their papers by Wednesday afternoon.

Candidates are springing up unexpectedly in the town of "dark horses" as far as the entire city is concerned. Their names have not been prominent in election gossip except in their own neighborhood.

Papers for present Mayor C. E. Raught for reelection are filed as are the papers of Louis Wolf for reelection as city clerk. Mr. Wolf will be unopposed. E. J. Mitehka, present city treasurer, Mrs. Gerard Cooper Brenzel, Albert Lindstrom, Julie Mortes all are candidates for city treasurer, and have filed their nomination papers. Several other papers of candidates are expected in the hands of the city clerk soon.

William Lange, Peter Metz, Ferdinand A. Meinert and John H. Corcoran are opposing each other in the race for city assessor. Mr. Corcoran has held the office for the last two terms. Jacob A. Stoeger, president of the trades council, is the only candidate for alderman from the Third ward who has filed papers although it is understood that there will be other candidates. Charles J. Hohman and Albert Luedtke, present alderman from the First ward, are the only two men from that ward who have filed papers up to Tuesday afternoon.

Up to this time there has been very little discussion regarding candidates for the school board. Seven persons must be elected. Mrs. Mary Boyd is the only candidate for the school commission who has filed her papers Tuesday afternoon. Papers for H. J. Mulholland, member of the present board, have been circulated. Theodore Weber and James MacFadden are among the rumored candidates for office. It is expected one or two more women will stand for election also.

According to Wisconsin statutes, the newly elected school board or commission will not go into office until July 1.

$35,000 ESTATE IS AWARDED TO APPLETON PEOPLE

Stevens Point Jurist Rules People Here Are Next of Kin of Decedent

When Judge W. F. Owen in court at Stevens Point, refused to admit to probate two wills of Mrs. Edith Van Houten, late resident of that city, her $35,000 estate automatically became the property of Carlos W. Coburn, Jesse L. Coburn and Minnie Coburn Mills of Appleton.

With both wills set aside the property goes to the local people because they are "next of kin", their relationship being half-brothers and half sister, respectively, of Mrs. Van Houten. One of the two wills is now on file with the Portage co. court at Stevens Point. The other is said to have existed but is now declared to have been destroyed.

Under the will on file, Mrs. Van Houten bequeathed her estate to Horace E. Hoyt, secretary and manager of the Hindsdale Sanitarium at Hindsdale, Ill. Mr. Hoyt was to receive $1,900 to cover sundry attorney's fees etc.

The second will, existence of which could not be entirely proved, was said to be in the form of a contract between Mrs. Van Houten and her husband under which each would have the use of their estate during their lives and upon the death of the surviving party the estate was to go to the Hindsdale Sanitarium. The Sanitarium had a petition on file at the time of the hearing, showing why it should receive the estate. However, it was not represented at the hearing, and it was concluded they had allowed the matter to drop.

Mrs. Van Houten was found dead in her home in Stevens Point, March 1, 1921. A few days later a search was made of her home and cash and securities amounting to $30,000 were found. L. P. Moen, public administrator, determined the value of the estate as $35,285 by inventory.

Descendants of deceased aunts and uncles of Mrs. Van Houten had also petitioned for a division of the estate. Had the Appleton estate not been found, next of kin these people many of whom live in Portage-co. and other in Quebec and Arizona would have received the property.

PLAN DANCE HALL FOR MENASHA-RO.

The building season has already opened, nearly a month earlier than other years and lumber dealers now are filling orders. The exacting has been completed on several new houses in the city and the frame work is well started on some of them. A dance pavilion on the Appleton Menasha-rod, will be one of the first large buildings to be erected. The contract for material was placed with an Appleton dealer Monday. Contractors are busy figuring on several new buildings to be erected in Appleton this spring, but it is possible the contracts will not be let until the last of the month.

"You're so scared of me, you can't hardly breathe," he said calmly. "I don't like to be scared of me, so you can just get you another plate and cup and saucer and sit down there on the other side of the table and eat your supper with me."

To eat supper with her uncle's murderer! Here was a grotesque jape of fate. It was unthinkable. Absolutely. The man divined something of what was passing in her mind.

"All in the line of business, my girl," he said, with a backward jerk of his head toward the front room where he had killed her uncle. "I didn't have a thing against him personally."

"There were dishes here on the table," she babbled hysterically. "They found them here after—after—showing how he'd fed you first, and—"

"Sure he fed me," he interrupted. "I was hungry, hungrier than I am now. Alla same, you gotta eat supper with me."

He twisted her wrist to emphasize his wish. She uttered a little moan. "Don't! Oh, don't hurt me any more! I'll do what you want."

Beaten, body and soul, she went to the cupboard and got herself plate and cup and saucer, knife and fork and spoon.

She sat down opposite the man and tried to eat. It required every atom of will power to induce her throat muscles to permit her to swallow. Dan Slike watched her with savage satisfaction. He found the situation intensely amusing. To murder her uncle and later eat a meal with the niece. What a joke!

"I saw two mules and a horse in the corral when I came by," he resumed. "Looks like a good horse—better than the one I left up in the timber. I'll ride your horse and lead the other. Listen, I expect tomorrow sometime you'll have a few gents a-calling on you. I'll likely take those Golden Bar citizens till about then to pick up my trail."

He whistled the horse and rode away.

CHAPTER XIII
"You see," said Dan Slike, as he topped his mount, "I ain't been hard on you. I only took a little. I needed. Think of that and be happy."

Hazel remained standing beside the corral gate. Suddenly she was conscious of a great weariness. With dragging steps she returned to the house. When she returned to the kitchen, there was a man standing in the middle of the room.

Nothing had the power to surprise her now. She would not have been amazed had the devil himself popped into the room. The man turned at her entry. He was Rafe Tuckleton. "What do you want?" she asked lifelessly.

"What's been here?" he demanded, pointing an accusing finger at the table. "Two plates, two cups, two saucers—who you been entertaining?"

Entertaining! Good Lord! Hazel sat down on the wood-box and laughed hysterically.

"He was around the table and confronting her in three strides. 'Who's been here?' he kept at her."

"Dan Slike," she said with a spasmodic giggle.

"You're a liar," he told her promptly. "Dan Slike didn't come this way. He went another way. You've had Bill Wingo here, that's what's matter."

She said nothing. Billy Wingo! He had loved her—once. What a queer, queer world it was. Everybody and everything at cross-purposes. Yet there was a reason for it all. Must be. Even a reason for Rafe. She looked up at Rafe. He was glaring down at her with a most villainous expression on his lean features.

"Say, what's a use of lying to me? You're an odd number, by all accounts, but you ain't so odd you could sit here and eat and drink and carry on with your uncle's murderer. You can't tell me that."

She was regarding him with curious eyes. I thought you always said Dan Slike didn't kill my uncle?"

"Well—uh—you see, everybody else seems to think he did. And—ah—maybe I was wrong."

"You had Bill Wingo here, and we'll settle this Wingo business right now. This Tip O'Gorman murder has quered him for keeps. Sooner or later he'll hang for it. You'd look fine wouldn't you, the widow of a murderer?"

"Don't say it," she cut short. "Billy Wingo is no murderer. However, you can set your mind at rest. I'm not likely to marry Billy Wingo, or anybody else."

His eyes, savage and mean, held hers steadily. "I come over here, tonight to get you. I'm taking you back with me tonight to my ranch."

"You're taking me to your ranch?" she gasped. "Me?"

He nodded. "You, nobody else."

She laughed harshly without a note of hysteria. "You're two hundred years behind the times. Men don't carry off their women any more."

"Now for the first time she smelt his breath. It was rank with the raw odor of whisky. So that was what had given him the wild idea of carrying her off by force. The man was drunk. Sober, he was bad enough. Drunk, he was capable of any crime."

She reached toward the lid lifter. Rafe seized her wrist and jerked her sidewise.

He was striving to kiss her and she, face crushed against his rough shirt, fought him like the primeval female every woman becomes in like circumstances. Her right hand clamped upward at his face. Her left arm, doubled between their bodies, she strove to work free so that she could grab his gun.

Rafe received three distinct clawings that considerably altered the appearance of one side of his face, before he was able to confine those active fingers.

"Here!" he bawled in a fury. "I'll fix you!"

He tried to seize her by the throat and his thumb slipped by mistake into her mouth. She promptly clamped down hard on the thumb. With a yell, Rafe released his grip on her body and worked a thumb and ring finger into her cheeks in a frantic effort to force open her locked jaw.

He jumped back against the wall, dragging her with him, and began to shake her as a dog does a rat. And then the old Terry clock did that for which it surely must have been originally made. For as his shoulders struck the wall, his head knocked away the bracket that held the clock. Involuntary he ducked his head. It was the worst thing he could have done, giving, as it did, the clock an extra foot to fall. It fell. One corner struck him fairly on the temple and knocked him cold as a wedge.

When Hazel's reeling senses had re-established their equilibrium, she found herself on the floor, lying across the inert legs of Rafe Tuckleton. She raised herself on her two arms and looked at him. He was breathing very lightly.

She dragged herself on hands and knees toward him.

"What happened when he saw you flying off in his airplane?"

"MY GAWD," SHRILLED THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY, "IT'S RAFE TUCKLETON!"

knees to where he had thrown his six-shooter.

Rafe groaned a little. He rolled over and sat up, his chin sagging forward on his chest. He moved his head and looked at her vacantly. The blood ran down his cheek and dripped slowly off his chin.

The light of reason glared of a sudden in Rafe's eyes. She could see that he was absorbing the situation from every angle.

"I'll give you five minutes to pull yourself together and get out," she announced clearly. "If you're still here by the time I've counted three hundred I'll begin to shoot."

Rafe started to go by the time she reached sixty. With the six-shooter pointing at the small of his back, her finger on the trigger, step by step she drove him out of the house to where he had left his horse.

Hazel watched him ride away and after a little became at one with the moonlit landscape. She walked back to the house. She felt that she was taking enormous strides. In reality she was stepping short and staggering badly. She went into the kitchen. She closed the door, dropped the bar into place and fell into the nearest chair.

"My God!" she said aloud. "I wonder what will happen next?"

CHAPTER XIV
"Now that we've got Dan out of jail, the district attorney pattered on. 'We've got to get on top of Bill Wingo, and the sooner the quicker. Me, I'm going out to Walton's tonight and question Hazel.'"

"We'll go," said Sam Larder decidedly. "I ain't a heap attracted by your methods with the ladies, and I intend to see the girl gets a square deal."

"Me too," chimed in Felix Craft. The district attorney was none too well pleased and showed it.

The moon was high in the heavens when the three men came to the mouth of the draw leading to the Walton ranch. A quarter of nine up this draw they came upon a man standing beside a horse. He proved to be the town Marshal, Red Herring.

"It ain't necessary for you to be watching the Walton ranch," said the crochety district attorney.

"I got as much right to the reward as the next one, I guess," flared the marshal. "If I wanna watch the ranch, I guess I got a right to do that, too. You don't want to cherish any idea that you own the earth and me, too, Artie Rafe!"

Two hundred yards short of the bend in the draw the attorney swore and jerked the animal back. Then he dismounted hurriedly and ran forward to view at close range the object that had startled the horse.

The three others pulled up and followed his example.

"My Gawd!" shrieked the district attorney. "It's Rafe Tuckleton!"

WIVES COST DOUBLE WHAT THEY DID IN DAYS BEFORE WAR

London — Profiteering has spread not only all over the world, but has spread to the wife market, Lord Down said in a speech here. "Before the war," he said, "a wife could be bought for four shillings. In the cattle country a wife used to cost four cows; now she costs seven."

BRAVE WRATH OF SHAW TO PRODUCE
HIS NOTED PLAY

British Author Has Little Hopes
For Dramatization of His Work

By John O'Donnell
New York—In reply to George Bernard Shaw's retort that "nothing on earth could induce me to face the production of 'Back to Methuselah,'" Lawrence Langer, director of the Theatre Guild, is now en route to London, weighed down with pictures and full of explanations.

The pictures are to convince Shaw that "Back to Methuselah" was successfully produced. The explanations are to turn aside the Shavian wrath which is expected to break when the English dramatist learns that his ironclad rule of "not a single cut" has been broken.

CALLS 'EM "QUITE MAD"
It is now known that Shaw, the Theatre Guild last summer approached Shaw in regard to the production of the play he consented, saying, "You are quite mad, but if you absolutely must, go ahead."

Now that the third and final cycle of the five-play adventure in dramatized philosophy has been completed, the ambitious and highly efficient Theatre Guild has an opportunity to smile condescendingly on the greatest of English dramatists.

The production, although of restricted appeal, was artistically and successfully completed and made the most valuable dramatic experiment in years.

But Shaw is apparently sincere in his belief that the play is not suitable for production. There were times when he was right. Particularly was this true in the wearisome second cycle, when the broad expanse of conversation and the chaos of clear ideas induced the belief that Shaw better realized the possibilities of his brain-child than did the foster parents who introduced it to dramatic society.

INTEREST AROUSED
There are two details in connection with Langer's visit to Shaw which have aroused interest. The first is Shaw's comment when he sees the photograph of Albert Brunning, who appeared as the garrulous Shaw in "The Tragedy of the Elderly Gentleman."

The second interesting feature will be Shaw's reception to Langer's admission that the Theatre Guild broke the Shavian regulation and cut one word from the text.

The cut came in "The Thing Happens" when slim Claude King, who played Confucius, was referred to as "a yellow lump of conceit." The text calls for the line, "a fat yellow lump of conceit."

The only previous excision of a line from the American production of a Shaw play was the Jewett production of "The Doctor's Dilemma" in Boston when a thrust at Christian Science was omitted. Shaw's personal friendship for Jewett is believed to have permitted this omission.

CARUSO'S "FIND" IS ON WAY TO OPERA STARDOM

By Ruth Abelling
New York—Camilla Harrison is the "find" of Enrico Caruso.

Almost the last thing the artist did before his fatal illness seized him was to predict a future for Camilla and take her to Mme. Gaudenzi for her first lesson.

Caruso, with his wife and daughter were staying at the same hotel in New York at which Camilla and her mother happened to stop. Caruso heard the girl singing. She had not yet had any training.

The great singer called the attention of Mme. Caruso to the girl's voice, saying that she had a natural middle register, which is unusual. The middle register is a sort of bridge between the high voice and the low voice and usually must be developed.

In the course of a few days Mme. Caruso and Camilla's mother met by chance. They talked of Camilla's voice, and the outcome was that one Saturday just before Christmas of 1920, Caruso took Camilla to Mme. Gaudenzi for her first lesson. He was taken ill a few days later.

The noted singer pronounced Camilla, who was then only 16, a perfect type for light opera and predicted big things in that line for her. Since the death of her husband, Mme. Caruso has kept in touch with Camilla and is urging the girl on to realization of the artist's forecast.

Camilla has just refused an offer to understudy in light opera. She prefers to continue studying until she can begin in stellar roles.

Adventures Of
The Twins

Land of Lost Kites

The next place Buskins took the Twins to in the magic apple tree elevator was the Land of Lost Kites. Nick moved the funny old iron brake fastened to the side of the little rickety wooden car when Buskins told him and they shot still higher above the hills, trees and valleys, right into the blue, blue sky.

At last they stopped and Buskins said, "Here we are! I hope we're in time for the trial." And he looked at his watch.

"Trial?" exclaimed Nick. "What's that?"

"It's when something is to be decided," answered the fairyman. "And the thing to be decided is usually whose fault something is."

"But land alive! That's too hard for you to understand. Come along and I'll tell you what I mean."

"The Fairy Queen is to be here to do the deciding. It's all about the kites who come here. They are always quarrelling and always in trouble."

They started down a remarkable road with fields of lovely green on each side.

Here and there were houses where the kite people lived, who had come to make their home in this beautiful sky country.

And trees! There were oodles of trees, my dears, for where else would bird kites stay?

After while they arrived at a village and it was plain to see from the crowd of kites that something unusual was going on.

Buskins and the Twins made their way to the courthouse and here the crowd was thickest of all. They never would have got through had Buskins not handed a policeman-kite a card from the Fairy Queen.

Instantly the policeman-kite made a path, and the visitors went up the steps and through the door.

There they could see the Fairy Queen herself sitting in state.

Before her were two disheveled kites who looked as if they had been fighting.

Polly and Paul--and Paris

Chapter 67--The Mad Mood

BY ZOE BECKLEY

Violet Rand had been sulking in her flat since the morning she waylaid Polly and Barry coming home. Anger had obscured her vision. She had not foreseen the effect her behavior might have on Barry. He had not called. Nor telephoned. And to her message, monsieur was "out." Violet had her own code of pride and dignity and it prevented her doing more. So she stayed moodily at home, refusing herself to everyone.

On the night of the great festivity, July 13, when all Paris forgets its worries and begins its three day merrymaking, Barry's heart smote him. She had her fine points, had Violet Rand—handsome woman, clever, too. Her feelings . . . What were her feelings anyhow? She liked men . . .

"Would she ever love? Or was Violet just out for gain?"

He found himself in her street, passing her house. It was dark save for four windows, high up—Violet's. So Vi was home, curious! A party maybe . . . Well, there was safety in numbers—Barry turned in at the entrance.

Violet herself opened the door—Violet in a defiant mood, trailing a gown of orange chiffon that rippled and darted like flames as she walked.

"However do you come to be in tonight?" The words were banal, he could think of nothing better to say.

"Where should I be?" she flared. "In the streets, dancing? With whom—what for? Is that why you come—because you thought I'd be out?"

"Perhaps I came to ask about that thing—" Catching a dangerous glance he altered his tone. "Look here, Vi, why the dickens did you raise a row like that with little Mrs. Dawson?"

She turned squarely and faced him, staring long as if to make sure of something. Then she walked away with a strange, hard laugh.

"George—" she spoke with an effort at self-control. "I knew men were fools but I can't imagine one who has known as many women as you have, to be such a complete blind bat!"

Well, if you really don't know, I'll tell you. It was because in the abyss of my own idiosyncrasy I was furious that she should take you away from me. Now get out! I am a madwoman to-night!"

Barry flushed slowly, but to his own surprise, he did not feel displeased.

"Then I shall prescribe for you. You've been moping. This is no night to mope. Come—be the guest of a lonely bachelor—unless there's someone else."

She stopped, tracing a pattern on the table with her finger. It was new—and not disagreeable—this being bullied by a man she—liked. "If I go," she said slowly, "it must be something novel—somewhere where anything's likely to happen. How about Simon's?"

"What! On a night like this? To-night half the crooks in hiding from the police will be there."

"All the better! Anyhow it's Simon's or nothing."

He saw she was morosely craving for excitement, but he hesitated—"Of course, if you're afraid, George—"

"I'm not afraid, except for you—and you know it. . . . Some day,

REWARDS WORKERS

Cafeteria Owner Gives Second Cup of Coffee Free to His Customers

Waterloo, Ia.—Make your keynote of success your employees!

That's advice from B. F. Bishop, cafeteria owner here.

And it comes after he has tried it out and made a go of it.

A year ago Bishop bought a cafe that was serving about 30 people a day. Today's he's furnishing meals for some 900 a day.

How'd he do it? Let Bishop tell you:

TRAINED EMPLOYEES
"I secured inexperienced employees and trained them to give faultless service. Then I trained my own cooks by giving them what I had learned from 25 years in the chafing business."

"Nothing but home cooking goes."

"A sign on my wall reads 'No charge for the second cup of coffee and we bring it to you.'"

Bishop contends that no man can succeed without the hearty cooperation of his employees. "Because my helpers are satisfied they work hard," he says. "And this means that customers get the best kind of service."

MAKES 'EM PARTNERS

Now Bishop is opening a cafeteria in Cedar Rapids with his present employees as partners. He will own 51 per cent of the stock and the employees the balance. Workers will receive salary plus dividends.

Bishop is financing his employees to help them in the new venture because he has faith in them. He wants them to realize an ambition and he says he realizes that his present success was contributed to by them.

SPARE TIME JOBS
FOR FATHER

Leaks in household utensils can be stopped temporarily by applying a mixture of yellow soap and whiting. The two ingredients should be mixed to a thick paste. Such mending would serve in an emergency for a cake tin, for the greased paper would prevent the soap mixture from getting into the dough.

You will take inventory of your dishes before you overinvite to a dinner.

You will place the bread and butter plates at the left of each table place.

WOMAN IS WIPING OUT ILLITERACY

Arkansas Superintendent is Accomplishing Great Results

Little Rock, Ark.—Just now Mrs. Jennie Erickson Dodge, school superintendent for Pulaski county, is conducting a campaign to wipe out illiteracy in her neck of the woods. Since January 1 she has organized 50 schools for adults and secured an enrollment that has passed the 1000 mark.

And this is only a small part of the work and general interest she has been concerned in in Pulaski county. As school official she draws $4,000 a year, $400 more than the state superintendent of education and as much as the governor of the state.

She is supplied with an auto for visits to rural schools.

Recently she was county probation officer and it was largely through her efforts that the mothers' pension act was passed in Arkansas.

The building and maintenance of the Arkansas Reformatory for Women and Girls are credited to her efforts. She made a personal trip to Washington where she enlisted the support of President Wilson and secured an appropriation of $50,000 needed for this work.

Mrs. Dodge began her career as a school teacher with three children to support.

Edible Weeds

EARN to know the edible weeds of early spring and use them on your table. The tender young leaves of dandelion are delicious. The shoots come up and look much like rhubarb just coming through the ground.

While the leaves are tightly curled and a pale yellow and a pale yellow scoke is considered a delicacy. But remember that when scoke shoots unfold into real leaves the leaves are not good to eat.

CREAMED SCOKE

Wash the shoots through several waters. Let stand in salt water for half an hour. Drain and pour over boiling water to cover. Let stand 10 minutes and drain.

Put in a smooth stew pan, add just enough water to prevent burning and boil uncovered 20 minutes. Drain and good supper dish and a good accompaniment for fish.

Scoke shoots are used, too, with a plain butter dressing or with a tart dressing such as is used with dandelion greens.

Another weed that was cultivated years ago is the sorrel. Most everyone knows the weed, but few housekeepers realize its food value.

Sorrel can be used uncooked as a green salad alone or in combination with other salad plants. Shredded cabbage and minced, sorrel, dressed with oil and lemon juice make an unusual salad that is surprisingly good.

The English have many recipes for sorrel borrowed from the French. These rules are worked out for the American housewife.

CREAM OF SORREL SOUP

One cup minced sorrel, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 cup cream, 1/2 cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 cups chicken or veal stock, 1/2 cup cream, 1 cup white sauce, yolks 3 eggs.

Wash sorrel and strip leaves from stems. Mince and measure. Melt butter and add sorrel. Cook five minutes stirring to prevent burning. Add stock and let simmer 30 minutes. Rub through a fine sieve.

Return to the fire with the white sauce, salt and pepper, vinegar, sugar and nutmeg and cook five minutes longer. Beat the egg yolks with cream and stir into the hot soup. Do not let boil after the eggs are added, but stir over a snow fire three or four minutes to cook the eggs. Serve at once.

Three pounds sorrel, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons cream, 1 dessertspoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper and few gratings nutmeg.

Wash sorrel and strip leaves from stems. Put leaves in stew pan with just enough water to cover bottom of pan. Sprinkle with salt and cook gently 20 minutes. Drain well, then rub through a fine sieve.

Return to stew pan with butter and cream. Season with salt and pepper and nutmeg. Stir in the flour slowly, stirring constantly. Cook about eight minutes. Serve very hot.

Sorrel and dandelions are very good cooked together as the sorrel supplies just the tartness dandelions need.

Wishing for sleep
is a poor way to get it

A LITTLE wisdom in the daytime is a better assurance of rest than any amount of anxious wishing when nerves are a-jangle at night.

What you do at noon often has more influence on sleep than what you want and hope for, at midnight.

Coffee's drug element, caffeine, whips up the nerves, and when its use is continued there's usually a penalty which no amount of mental effort can avoid.

The part of wisdom, as so many thousands have found, is to turn away from nerve-stimulation and adopt rich, delicious Postum as the mealtime drink. Postum delights the taste, but brings no disturbance to nerves or digestion. Even the little children can share in the enjoyment of Postum at any meal.

It's better to anticipate warnings than to be driven by them.

It's better to encourage and preserve sound nerves and complete health than to listen to the clock ticks at night and say, "I wish!"

You can get Postum wherever good food or drink is sold and served. An order today may be the beginning, for you, of the great satisfaction and comfort which so many others have found in Postum.

Your grocer has both forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Grid Star Enters Ring

El Paso, Tex.—From the varsity football team to the prize rings, all inside of one short year. This is the story of the career of Sully Montgomery.

Montgomery spent four years at Centre College absorbing the liberal advantages of a college education. Some of the things at which he became proficient were football and boxing.

Montgomery played on the Centre team of 1920, which gave Harvard such a battle, finally losing, 31 to 14. Aside from starring on the gridiron he was one of Centre's best bets in baseball, basketball and on the track.

Montgomery started out with the idea of becoming a minister. It caused considerable of a stir in his family circle when he took up fighting.

Sullivan is 6 feet 2 inches and weighs 180 pounds.

While he has fought only three rounds so far he seems to have promise, and his manager, Ben Dobbett, has visions of the Centre College athlete some day being a champion.

STRIKES AND SPARES

Members of the Northern Furniture Co., five-man team of Sheboygan went to bed Tuesday night believing they had rolled for a score of 2,838 in the tournament five-man event and were tied for first place with the Beaumont Hotel team of Green Bay and the Menasha Alleys of Menasha. However, when the scores had been added again Wednesday morning it was found the Sheboygan outfit lacked one pin of a 2,838 score.

The Sheboygan men made a slow start in the five-man match but their bowling improved with every game. In the first game they hit 880 pins, in the second game they downed 967 maples and in the third game rolled for a total of 1,010. They made six scores of more than 200. The high individual score for a game was 254 made by F. Haack and the lowest was 148 shot by a Meheu.

Following are the scores made by the Northern Furniture Co. team:

F. Lieble	212
F. Haack	156
A. Meheu	148
M. Kosuh	167
A. Schrader	177
Totals	860

By the margin of one pin, missed on the final ball rolled down the alley, the Beaumont Hotel five-man team of Green Bay was kept out of the sole leadership in the five-man event of the state tournament for Elks when the Green Bay outfit rolled for a score of 2,838 Monday night, tying the count hung up by the Menasha alleys team Saturday.

With the score in the tenth frame 2, 837, one more ball to roll and two pins standing, spectators expected to see the Beaumont Hotel maples' hands grab off the leg in the five-man event of the classic, but M. Malouf, anchor man "picked a cherry," getting one pin and leaving the other.

The Green Bay bowlers fell down in their third game. They hit 907 in their first game, 1,047 in their second and got only 884 in their third. They made six scores of over 200 in the match and their count of 1,047 in their second game is the highest this far in the tournament.

Following are the scores made by the Beaumont Hotel team:

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declared a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

New York — The Yankees are after Joe Harris, former Indian, now with the Boston Red Sox, it was reported Wednesday. Club officials admit they want an outfielder.

BASEBALL LOOP TO BE COMPLETE

Other Towns Want to Get in Fox River Valley League if Fondy Pulls Out

Fox River valley baseball fans need not worry about the newly organized baseball league hitting the rocks in case Fond du Lac withdraws on account of lack of financial support. This information came forth from baseball headquarters here and President Klavin of the league gave out a like statement at Oshkosh.

It is said the situation at Fond du Lac is not as bad as has been stated and the city stands a good chance of retaining its berth. In case of a show-down, it is possible the Reupling plant may step into the breach and put a team in the field.

However, if Fondy does fall by the wayside, it will be possible to put another city in the fold. Several applications were received previous to the final organization of the circuit and it is believed one of these towns would jump at the chance to get into the league.

Motor Lubricants for 30 Million People

REFINING crude petroleum to produce a multiplicity of useful products is a highly specialized branch of industry.

The refining of gasoline and the manufacture of lubricating oils each require special treatment. Motor lubricants are made from specially selected crude and the portions of such crude best adapted for high quality motor oils are extracted during the first operations of refining.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of its achievements; proud of its enviable record as a manufacturer of gasoline, and equally proud of its record as a manufacturer of lubricants for all types and classes of machinery.

During 1921 nearly 25 million gallons of Polarine, the perfect motor oil, were manufactured and sold.

This enormous gallonage went to the consumer with the unqualified guarantee of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) that no better lubricant for an internal combustion engine could be made.

Lubricating oil is the most vital factor in conserving your car investment. In making definite recommendations for lubricating your car this Company realizes the importance to you, and to itself, of knowing exactly what each machine requires.

The responsibility of the Standard Oil Company, (Indiana) is emphasized when you consider that in the territory served there are more than 3 million automotive vehicles under registration. These machines represent a total investment of more than 2 billion dollars.

Every drop of motor oil manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is made to meet definite requirements worked out in the Company's laboratories by skilled chemists, refiners and lubricating engineers who have given careful study to the technical problems and their practical application under working conditions, which the oil must meet.

It is because they have given such painstaking attention to every detail of manufacture and application that the Company has been able to produce Polarine, the perfect motor oil.

It is this painstaking attention to every detail, in every branch of its business, that has made this Company a leader in the industry.

It is by such sustained, conscientious, enthusiastic effort, to keep faith with its patrons, that this Company has won the confidence, esteem and respect of the public it serves.

C. C. DIRECTORS TO ACT ON PLANS TO BOOM VALLEY

New Directors of Civic Chamber
Will be Guests of Retiring Board

Newly elected directors of the chamber of commerce will be guests of the old board at the bi-weekly dinner in the French room of the Sherman house Thursday evening. This will be the closing meeting of the retiring administration and several important matters of unfinished business will be taken up.

Plans prepared by the committee appointed to map out a joint publicity campaign for the Fox River valley will be submitted to the directors for the first time. It is possible that a vote of endorsement will be given the work of the committee.

The directors will decide whether delegates and counselors to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States will be elected to attend the national convention of that body in Washington May 15, 17 and 18. Appleton is entitled to four delegates.

Consideration also will be given to the fight among valley business men for coal rates from Green Bay and Milwaukee on a mileage basis instead of a commodity rate. Freight charges from these points, differing in distance by more than 50 miles, are the same and consumers would benefit by lower prices if the charges were in proportion to the length of haul.

Request the manager of the Yellowstone Trail association to appear before the directors later will be acted upon. Action also will be taken on an industrial exhibit at Appleton according to plans submitted previously.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE IS CUT BY ILLNESS

The attendance of some of the public schools of the county dropped off almost entirely during the last two weeks due to the condition of the roads which in many places are under water. The pupils who did attend were confined almost exclusively to those conveyed either by their parents or neighbors.

Various diseases have also been cutting down the spring attendance. Just at present these most prevalent are mumps, pink eye and jaundice. One school in the town of Maple Creek was closed for several weeks because of an epidemic of scarlet fever.

tax-dodger, that has been going on. The Tax Commission cannot divulge it to me or to anyone else. This legislature has no right under the present law to ascertain or know the facts until you repeal the secrecy clause.

Fraudulent income tax returns have all the elements of crime against the state. The law makes the criminal acts of all criminals a matter of public record. The honest income taxpayer has nothing to fear from publicity, while on the other hand the tax-dodger and the criminal profiteer may well fear publicity.

The honest taxpayer should be protected; the criminal tax-dodgers and profiteers should have the light of publicity thrown upon them. The secrecy clause penalizes the honest taxpayer, and rewards the criminal profiteer and tax-dodger. Why should the honest taxpayer be penalized; why should he be further taxed to hire inspectors and auditors, and institute an espionage system in order to ferret out the fraud and the cheat of the dishonest and the criminal tax-dodger?

If the income tax returns were open to public inspection, the dishonest tax-dodger would hesitate to lay bare a fraud or a cheat on the government; he would know that he would be detected. But so long as he knows that there are 14,000 corporations in the state, and thousands of individual income taxpayers, he has one chance in several thousand to escape detection by inspectors or auditors; and therefore he is willing to take that chance of one in thousands, in order to escape an honest return and an honest tax.

It might well be suggested that the returns of other property, real and personal, of the farmers, of the merchants, of the bankers, of all business men, are subject to public inspection, and no harm has ever come to any individual or corporation because of that publicity. Great good has come therefrom in equalizing assessments. Besides, the state has not been put to the expense of employing auditors and inspectors to ferret out any attempted cheat or fraud regarding the assessment of real or personal property.

It may be asked: How will publicity promote an honest return? I have pointed out that a man will hesitate to lay bare a fraud, when he knows that his neighbor—similarly situated, and engaged in the same competitive business—will be anxious to know what he is contributing his just proportion toward the expenses of that community and the state.

But we have had some experience in this country, to which I desire to call your attention, regarding the fecklessness of publicity. There was a federal income tax law in Civil War days; all income tax returns were subject to public inspection and full publicity until 1870. In 1870 the tax-dodgers and profiteers of Civil War days, desiring to escape their just share of the burdens of government, succeeded in writing into the federal law a secrecy clause. The result was that the number of returns decreased nearly 25 per cent. and no doubt the amount of taxes paid decreased likewise. In 1870, the last year of publicity, the number of income returns showing incomes over $2,000 was $4,887; in 1871, when publicity was prohibited, the number fell to 74,000 and in 1872 fell to 72,000 or a total falling off of income returns for those two years of over 22,000.

The Tax commission advises me that there are listed in Wisconsin 13,000 corporations, and that their experience for the last three years indicates that approximately half of these corporations show taxable income. The corporations showing taxable incomes may be roughly classified into two groups: Those showing less than $5,000 net income, and those showing more than $5,000 net income. Approximately 4,200 corporations fall into the first group, and 2,600 corporations into the second group, or a total of approximately 6,800 corporations showing taxable income. Of the first group, or those showing a net income of less than $5,000, it is safe to estimate that about 1,500 have made incorrect returns; and of the second group—those having net incomes of over $5,000—1,800 have failed to make correct returns, making a total of 3,300 corporations whose incomes are incorrect.

It is therefore perfectly safe to suggest that from 3,000 to 3,500 corporation returns will show additional income taxes, due to either fraudulent or incorrect returns.

The Tax commission also informs me that for the year 1921 two field auditors audited 55 corporations. Since it takes two field auditors to audit 55 corporations in one year, it will take two auditors, working constantly, 55 years to audit the 3,000 corporations. The audit made was for three years only, as the law does not permit the Commission to go back more than three years. Auditors must be trained accountants, and the demand for trained accountants is so great that the salary of a trained accountant is large.

The two auditors, in auditing 55 corporations, added in the one year a net general income tax of $271,632.42, of which the state receives 10 per cent and the municipalities and counties 90 per cent; they added an additional soldiers' bonus tax of $31,262.10; an additional educational bonus tax of $8,252.38; and an additional teachers' retirement fund tax of $9,185.42, or a total additional tax of $494,662.22, on the basis of three years.

For the months of January and February of this year, the field auditors of the commission have found additional income taxes amounting to $123,492.92.

The Tax commission, through the office added with a very small force, have added additional income taxes for the year 1921 of $351,529.73.

The experience that we have had in the last fourteen months on auditing income tax returns, both field and office audits, has netted the municipalities and the state $300,570.73. If the 3,000 corporation returns could have been audited, instead of the very few audited—for below a hundred—for six years instead of three, it is fair to assume that the soldiers' bonus fund, the teachers' educational bonus fund, the teachers' retirement fund, the counties and the municipalities, would receive additional revenue amounting to millions of dollars.

I feel that it should only be necessary to call your attention to the three year limitation, and the injustice thereof, to convince you that such statute of limitations should not prevail with respect to income tax returns. The general statute of limitations on claims is six years. Where a return is made with intent to evade the law, and where it was fraudulent and willful, there is no statute of limitation. Fraud vitiates everything. The man, or corporation that has committed a fraud against the state should not be permitted to hide behind a statute of limitations.

Generally speaking, a statute of limitations never runs against the state, unless it is so expressly provided. The men and corporations that profited out of the late war, by reason of the war, should not be permitted to escape paying taxes that are justly due the community. The three-year limitation lets the dishonest war profiteer go free.

Therefore, the statute should be amended so that the Tax commission may go back six years instead of three, and a new section should be created, provided that when the returns are fraudulently made with an intent to evade the law, the commission shall go back and make an assessment for all years when a fraudulent return was made.

Gentlemen, the legislation to which I have called your attention in the call should not be delayed. Each year that goes by means the loss of income taxes for all the years preceding the three-year limitation. While the state is spending money in making audits, the returns can be audited for six years, at the time they are now audited for three, at a great saving of time and expense. If another year goes by, hundreds of thousands of dollars—if not millions—may be lost to the state, and particularly to municipalities of the state, and to the bonus funds for the service men. We need every dollar to which the soldiers' bonus fund and the soldiers' educational bonus fund are entitled. The unjustifiable neglect of the Federal government to come to the assistance of the service men in a time of need demands that the respective states discharge obligations which the Federal government owes but has failed to discharge. Nor should one dollar be lost to the teachers' retirement fund.

I am pleading for an honest system of taxation. I protest against extravagance, and the useless expenditure of the public funds.

A repeal of the secrecy clause means greater economy. Publicity will protect the honest income tax payer against those who fail to make an honest return and fail to pay an honest tax.

I will not look with favor upon any appropriation involving, now and in the years to come, the spending of hundreds of thousands of dollars in the establishment of an espionage system, that otherwise can be prevented if we repeal the secrecy clause.

The single issue is: Shall we make taxation public, and honest, or shall we establish an extravagant espionage system, through inspectors and auditors?

I urge honest taxation, through publicity of our public business, and I oppose the secrecy and darkness that protects the dishonest and the criminal tax-dodger. An extravagant and expensive espionage through auditors and inspectors does not meet the issue today, nor the prophetic vision of former President Harrison of a quarter of a century ago.

Some have been unkind enough to charge that I am trying to make a partisan issue. Not so. I am trying to prevent it. Only defeat of the public demand for honesty, economy, and fair dealing in government can raise such an issue.

Bills have been prepared and are now on your desks, embodying all the legislative business set forth in the call. I suggest that if I may have your cooperation, this business can be transacted and an adjournment had within two or three days.

The expense of this special session, therefore, should be under $8,000. The amount that will accrue to municipalities, to the state, and to the soldiers' bonus funds, if the legislation recommended is adopted, will run into the millions. One year's interest on the amount withheld each year will pay the expenses of this special session many times.
